Rent a Yacht in Thailand

This spectacular and contemporary 41 meter masterpiece has been designed with a strong emphasis on space and light and has five suites for up to 12 guests at any one time who will be looked after by a permanent, highly trained crew of seven to cater to their every need for your yacht charter in Thailand

The internal planning of the yacht offers total flexibility to respond to the most discerning requirements of the owners and their guests and keen attention has been paid to design and detail ranging from the internal and external areas to cutlery, crockery, fabrics and crew uniforms. Throughout the yacht's interior, the architects maximized the amount of natural light by incorporating extensive floor-to-ceiling windows and walls of light-coloured hardwoods with high-gloss finishes.

The design is most successful in the airy master suite, a full-beam residence with two private terraces.

Your itinerary for a Yacht Charter in Thailand

Day One : Welcome to Thailand! You will be escorted from the airport to Ao Po Grand Marina, located on the north-eastern side of the peninsula where your yacht awaits along with some refreshments.

While you settle in, the yacht will head off for the spectacular uninhabited island of Koh Hong. Some have said that the beaches here are amongst the most beautiful in the world, so an afternoon relaxing, swimming, and snorkelling makes for a perfect introduction. Remain here at anchor overnight.

Day 2 : After breakfast, cruise to the islands of Phang Nga Bay, a sheltered area between the island of Phuket and mainland Thailand. The bay has over 100 islands and is famous for its sheer limestone stacks that rise vertically out of the crystal waters create a stunning panoramic view. Anchor off Ko Batang and explore the shallow waters in the area by tender, in particular the celebrated "James Bond" island, where you will see some of the most spectacular cliffs and caves along the shoreline. Visit the local sea gypsy village Panyee, built on stilts over the water. The village inside is a labyrinth maze of colours, visuals and smells, with birds in hanging bamboo cages, women cooking and market vendors.

Return to the yacht late afternoon in time for a sunset cocktail and dinner served under the stars.

Steam overnight to Ko Phi Phi Don.

Day 3 : Wake up in Ko Phi Phi Don, ready for a day of relaxation with water sports or just sunbathing! The snorkelling is amazing amongst reefs teeming with schools of clown fish, parrot fish, angel fish, sergeant majors and needle nose fish to name a few. Ko Phi Phi Don is another location down on the "most beautiful islands in the world" list, along with nearby Ko Phraya Nak and Ko Bida Nok. (The film "The Beach" was set here).

Sample a bit of the vibrant nightlife before steaming overnight to Ko Muk and Ko Rok Nai.

A change of scenery is in store for you today. The limestone cliff formations of the previous islands turn into granite boulders along this stretch of landscape - similar to the Seychelles or even Maine in some areas, but featuring a lush, tropical and flowering jungle canopy. The waters are a brilliant emerald green. In Ko Muk, those adventure seekers can swim and explore a long tunnel cave with flashlights and underwater cameras. At the end of the tunnel is a small oasis, a hidden beach paradise, known to the locals as "The Emerald Cave". It was also known to be used by ancient pirates to hide their treasures. This is an exciting excursion without being too scary or intimidating.

Return to the yacht for lunch and cruise on to the island of Rok Nai - a south Pacific paradise, remote and tranquil. The steep cliffs here rise to 200m in places, dense with vegetation providing homes to monitor lizards, birds, butterflies and a wide variety of fauna. The waters surrounding the islands are home to some of the most amazing coral formations in Thailand, where thousands of colourful reef fish dart around from one coral to another.

Cruise overnight to Patong Beach, located on the western side of Phuket.
